Saxe Theatre
Lease Closed
for Janesville

New Structure to Be Built at Corner of Dodge and High with Entrance on Milwaukee Street—Deal Finally Closed.

The new theater to be built by the Saxe Amusement company, of Milwaukee, at the corner of Dodge and High streets, is assured.

The lease has been signed by the Saxe Amusement company and M. G. Jeffris, for 99 years and all the terms have been complied with.

The announcement of the final completion of the deal was made late Monday by M. G. Jeffris, to the Gazette from Rhinelander, where he is taking a vacation.

Several weeks ago the Gazette announced that the preliminary negotiations had reached the final stages and that the theater would be erected.

The Saxe Amusement company will build a theater capable of seating 2200 people in the most modern style. It will be larger and better than the Alhambra of Milwaukee, owned by the Saxe Bros.

Janesville as an amusement place has attracted attention for many months. The Saxe Amusement company has a number of theaters in operation in Milwaukee and other cities.

They will put on high class first production movies and vaudeville as well as the best combinations and dramatic attractions.

The theater will have high street in order to build it the flat building now occupying the ground will have to be razed. The land leased is the lot on the Dodge street side where there will be an exit and from the Grand hotel on the High street side to Dodge with access to the High. The main entrance will be on Milwaukee street, through the store rooms next to the Grand hotel. The building will be a modern structure and the architecture of the building will be of the most modern in theater construction according to the plans being made by the architects now.

Building to Begin Soon
Building work preliminary to the construction of the theater will be commenced as soon as possible to get possession of the flat and other buildings which will have to be torn down.

Open First of Year.
In an interview with Tom Saxe this morning over the phone in Milwaukee, he stated to the Gazette that the plans for the theater would be ready early next week. The building will cost $250,000, and Martin Tullgren, noted theater architect, is making the drawings. The work of wrecking the old buildings, according to Mr. Saxe, will be commenced within a few days and the building pushed as fast as possible with every energy. It is the intention of the Saxe Amusement company to open the theater the first of the year 1921.

Aged Jailer Is Overcome
By Youthful Prisoners
Who Make Their Escape

Oshkosh, Sept. 28.—By making an unexpected and vicious attack on Jailer Robert Peterson, 2 prisoners, Stanley Guntner and Frank Paulus, made their escape from the Oshkosh Jail early this morning. Peterson was choked and mauled and his head was cut when he was knocked down and fell to the cement floor. He put up a fight, but being 64 years of age, while Guntner is 20 and Paulus is 19, he was no match for them.

Men Disappear
The men ran into the yard of an industrial plant near the jail and disappeared. An all night search failed to reveal their whereabouts. Guntner was recently arrested at State Line, Wis., near Eagle River, and was to have had his preliminary examination in municipal court today. The attack on the jailer was planned by the summer cottage of Fred Ather at Butte Des Morts, Oct. 5, 1919. Paulus was to be brought into court place charged with stealing a $65 bicycle in this city. He was trying to sell it at Fond du Lac when arrested.

Sheep Is Away

ENGLISH CONDEMN
WORK OF BLACK AND TAN
London, Sept. 28.—Serious anxiety over the recurrence of the "Black and Tan" reprisals in Ireland is reflected by English newspapers which sharply call for the government to halt what is described by the London Times as "semi-official lynch law." Earlier occurrences in Ireland, passed without much notice here, but recent raids, especially those on Balbriggan and Trim, and the lukewarm criticism of the "Black and Tan" police forces by General Sir Cecil E. Nevill Maude, military commander of Ireland, are causing disquiet.

Condemnation is General.
Condemnation of disorders is not confined to newspapers which are avowedly sympathizers with the Irish nationalist movement, the conservative "Morning Post" and the "Daily Mail" are also condemning the "Black and Tan" tactics.

Threats Are Numerous.
Reports from Ireland tell of numerous threats of further reprisals. Warnings have been given several times in West Clare that they will be burned unless Capt. Londrums, resident magistrate of Kesh, who has been missing since last Wednesday, is released. A man who is believed to have been kidnapped, is not returned within 48 hours. The town of St. Nevers, suffered from a raid last Monday. Shots were fired into houses, some of the inhabitants were roughly handled, but none was seriously hurt.

Dublin Castle Investigates.
There is a serious investigation of the reprisals. The chief secretary for Ireland is conferring on the whole situation with the military and police. The investigation is also taking the matter in hand.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Cleveland, Sept. 28.—The formalities of the opening and parade over the American Legion convention got down to real business today. Twelve committees worked late into the night to have their reports ready.

The committee on time and place for the next convention was to recommend Kansas City for the next convention. It selected October 31 to November 5, 1921, as the date.

There was such a variety of resolutions before the resolutions committee that it was regarded certain its report would be the last to be made public.

The committee on departmental divisions was to recommend that the divisions be amended and 6 departments be created, five in the United States and one in Europe, and that instead of the five vice commanders elected at large, as at present, a vice commander be placed over each of the 6 departments.

Wisconsin in Central.
The central department under this plan would include Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, North and South Dakota.

The resolution favoring immediate action by the United States senate on the four-fold compensation plan received the committee approval Monday night. It was followed by a strong vote in favor of the resolution, it was said.

NO ARRESTS YET

U. S. Marshal Expected to Take
Abbott Late Today—"Tonic" Held in City Lock-Up.

Federal agents confiscated 23 cases, or more than 300 bottles of "tonic" and "medicine" of high alcoholic content in a raid on "Tonic" P. Abbott's saloon, 21 South Main street, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The liquids taken are listed to contain 15 to 15 to 50 per cent of alcohol.

Testimony of Frank Schrader was taken in municipal court yesterday afternoon to show that Abbott has been selling the "tonic" as a beverage. It was sold to him to be disposed of only as a tonic or medicine.

Abbott Not Arrested.
No warrant had been served on Abbott up to an early hour this afternoon. Federal agents stated just before the raid that they would be here from Madison today to arrest him on charges of violating the prohibition act.

The raid was staged by George Ihrig and Carl Henning, federal prohibition agents, who said they found most of the contents of the cellar of the saloon. The "tonic" was piled on a truck and transported to the city hall where it was locked up in a cell in the hall.

Last of Contraband.
Mr. Henning lists the following as taken at the Abbott place:

1 case, 12 bottles of "Tonic" wine.
1 case, 12 bottles of "Tonic" wine.
1 case, 12 bottles of "Tonic" wine.

13 bottles of beer.
13 bottles of beer, iron and wine.
2 bottles of beer.

1 bottle of beer.
1 bottle of beer.
1 bottle of beer.

The search warrant was issued yesterday afternoon by Stanley J. Tallman, United States court commissioner.

While there is nothing to prevent the manufacture of patent medicines of high alcoholic content, the law clearly states that they are not to be sold as beverages," explained Mr. Henning last night after the raid. "This is where we think we have found evidence to show he has been selling it as a beverage—over the bar at 25 cents a drink."

When arrested in court here yesterday on a charge of intoxication, Frank Schrader was fined $5 or 7 days. He testified that he bought wine of beer at Abbott's saloon.

Abbott's Statement.
Mr. Abbott made the following statement to the police here after being taken from the city hall last night: "I have run a saloon for many years and I have never been arrested before."

Eddie Cicotte Heads List—To Stand Trial for Bribery by Gamblers in Connection with 1919 World's Series.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—The Cook county grand jury this afternoon voted true bills against the following baseball players in connection with its investigation of alleged "throwing" of World's Series games last year:

Eddie Cicotte.
Claude Williams.
"Chick" Gandil.
"Hap" Felsch.

All are members of the Chicago White Sox. The eight players are charged with conspiracy to violate a state law. Voting of the indictments was officially announced by H. H. Brigham, foreman of the grand jury, following a conference with Chief Justice McDonald and Alfred S. Austrian, attorney for the White Sox club.

While the indictments at present contain but one count "conspiracy to do an illegal act," Assistant State's Attorney Replogle, in charge of the grand jury investigation, announced that more probably will be added after the grand jury session this afternoon.

Cicotte, who was named in the story of the alleged gambler's plot, told at Philadelphia last night by Billy Maharg, former prize fighter, is said to have signed an immunity waiver and then went before the grand jury and testified. The sudden voting of the true bills followed.

Charles Comiskey, president of the White Sox today suspended every member of the team indicted today in connection with the fixing of baseball games. Seven of the eight indicted are affected, Chick Gandil, the eighth is not playing this year.

The suspension practically kills all the hopes of the White Sox winning the American League pennant, this year.

WAR TO FINISH IS DECLARED ON RATS BY PARIS BOARD

Paris.—War to a finish has been declared against the rat by the Hygiene Commission of Paris. The commission was anxious to learn from a report read to it by Professor Thompson, that there were 8,000,000 rats in the city.

The extermination of the rats is to be accomplished by all the weapons known in rat warfare, and the campaign will be both offensive and defensive. The offensive weapons are the following:

Use of bactericidal products or deadly poisons likely to cause epidemics among rats, poisons, asphyxiating gases in the sewers for several hours at a time repeated at intervals and traps.

In this connection Professor Bordas warns rat trappers not to smoke before setting their traps as the rat holds tobacco in abhorrence. A premium of two sous is to be paid for each rat killed by hand.

The defensive campaign will be conducted by rat proofing houses and by setting the garbage cans on the sidewalks only a few minutes before the arrival of the garbage collectors, so that rats cannot feed on their contents over night.

Many possibilities of success are held in the Hygiene Commission as being the chances of success in ridding Paris of the rat nuisance, especially after Professor Bordas had explained that a family tree dating back to the early centuries of the Christian era, having originated in France from the Near East with the early Crusaders.

Such aristocrats are bound to put up a stiff fight for their privileges, said a humorous member of the Commission.

It is planned to secure a broad view of the whole situation before attempting to make recommendations or to deal with problems which are presented by any particular country.

An optimistic view of the situation in France is taken by M. Deventer, a French delegate. He pointed out that France was still obliged to borrow money but it was not for use in carrying out ordinary budget projects. The money, he declared, was to be expended on reconstruction work, which could not be delayed until reparations payments are made.

The women of the Methodist church will hold a harvest bazaar and sale at the church parlors on the 29th commencing at 3 o'clock. The sale will be conducted by the Young Ladies Guild and many useful articles will be offered.

MAIL PLANE PILOT HITS CABLE, IS KILLED

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 23.—F. A. Robinson, Hazellurst field, pilot of a mail plane, was killed when his machine was wrecked near Millersburg. It is thought Robinson lost his way and struck a cable suspended over the Susquehanna river.

"Sir, I really don't know what a kiss is."

"Then the lord man in haste put his arm round her waist and exclaimed: 'My dear madam, kiss me!'"

LACE FACTORY IS FIRED; FOUL PLAY?

London, Sept. 23.—Two serious fires occurred in Italian manufacturing plants which had been occupied by the workers are reported in dispatches from Rome. One outbreak occurred in the Ombino munitions factory in Naples. The belief exists, said the message, that this fire was the work of extremists who refused to evacuate the plant.

The other fire, in a Turin lace factory, causing a loss of 2,000,000 lire, is suspected of being due to foul play.

COFFEE IS POPULAR DRINK THESE DAYS, RECORD IS MADE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, Sept. 23.—More coffee was drunk in the United States during the year ending June 30, 1920, than in any previous year on record, according to figures made public today by the department of commerce.

The period covered coincides with the first year of prohibition. The total coffee consumption in continental United States for this period was 1,358,000,000 pounds and the per capita consumption 12.7 pounds. This is a total increase of 399,000,000 pounds and a per capita increase of 3.71 pounds over the preceding twelve months.

Swiss Socialists Plan For Dry Referendum

Berne.—The Swiss Socialist party is drafting a bill which it intends to place before the Swiss Parliament for the purpose of prohibiting the sale of brandy and liquors in Switzerland.

One-half of the world imagines the other half couldn't possibly manage to worry along without it.

ROLLIE WILLIAMS DECLARED ELIGIBLE

Madison, Sept. 23.—Four Wisconsin university gridiron stars, whose eligibility has been in doubt since last spring's examinations, were declared eligible Monday afternoon. They are: Ralph Scott, right tackle; Guy Sundt, fullback; Rollie Williams, half; and Jim Brader, tackle and end.

With the news of the certain participation in football this season of these stars, hope of a championship team this year will be high, especially in view of the much discussed weakness of the Badger line.

Scott, an almost essential part of the first defense formation, will be able to resume his place, together with Jim Brader, another veteran.

Sundt, whose education to was so much in evidence during the 1919 season, will also be welcomed back to Camp Randall, and solve one of Coach John R. Richard's most difficult problems. Rollie Williams, who has been showing up well in the back field, will probably make a half back berth.

MAN O' WAR IS MACHING.

After having galloped Sir Barton, Cudgel and other great horses, Jockey Sundt says that his ride on the Uncle Sam Fair Play colt is the real horse of the age. He says:

"He wanted to run away with me all the way and once I thought I would have to let him go. I never felt anything like this horse in my life. He is a regular machine. He strides further than any nag I ever threw a leg over and does it so handily that you would not know he was running at all."

Buck Weaver and Johnny Rawlings will manage American and National league baseball teams which it is proposed will visit Japan and the Orient immediately after the close of the season.

George Stallings has recalled a sweet pitcher in John Watson. All John has done is to beat the great Grover Alexander and wallop the Cards for a pair. He was a spring discard.

Clayton and Cliff Brady, new-comers with the Boston Red Sox, are known as Mutt and Jeff on the team. Clayton is six foot six, while Brady is not much over five feet tall.

By driving out a homer with the score tied in the twelfth inning, Shortstop Derringer of the Oklahoma Sooners, beat Tulsa and is $500 richer. A crowd of 6,000 joyous fans shelled out.

DUTY OF CITIZENSHIP IN MAKING THE CITY BUDGET.

"I cannot play on any strangled instrument," said old Themiostocles, "but I can tell how of a little village to make a great city."

Janesville could use a Themiostocles now. In the absence of anyone looking like old Greek gentleman, however, we will have to depend on ourselves to make a small city into a great and prosperous place. One of the steps in that direction is to provide a way to use the dollars paid in taxes, to the very best advantage to all the people and to the betterment of the city.

To that purpose a new plan has been adopted by the city officials in making up the budget of appropriations for the coming year. At the meeting next Monday evening the public is asked to be present and make suggestions as to moneys to be used for many purposes in the coming year.
In other words the taxpayers of the city will have the privilege of fixing their own tax rate. Is there something needed by Janesville in 1921 that you as a taxpayer are deeply interested in having in the budget? If so the time to get it in, is next Monday evening.

This is a big, long, forward step in the government of the city. If the public does not take advantage of the opportunity, if those who are chronically opposed to everything suggested are not present either in person or by proxy, they will simply have shirked the duty of a citizen and taxpayer.

This is the day in court; there will be no other for a year.

HOUSE BUILDING AND LEGISLATION.

New York state has been attempting to solve the housing problem by legislation and has made the usual mistake of thinking that laws can be enacted which violate basic principles. Some of the laws would have done credit to the Kansas legislature in the days of the freak measures passed by the populists. The trouble arises in the fact that to serve a seeming acute public need, in one direction, legislation creates a public danger in another. The laws against eviction and rents as made would seem to have the effect to curtail building of apartment houses rather than to increase them.

House building and the solution of the home problems which are everywhere present must depend, not on legislation or measures made to meet isolated conditions, but on labor cost, price and range of materials and the ability to finance the building operation. These are beyond any legislative help. They must be solved in each community. We are trying to solve one of those phases here and other cities are following the same well defined line of procedure in securing financial aid for the individual who will erect a home and do just so much for the lessening of the housing perplexity.

The campaign now on for capital to aid the house building seems to be the most rational method of helping, and Janesville where the house needs are great may have more homes and many of them if the Building and Loan association is given the necessary capital. Here is where the individual can be of the most constructive assistance.

THE NONPARTISAN CHAMELEON.

Kenosha's nonpartisan league is filled with raucous. It will be remembered that after the league endorsed Rosa for congress the officers of the Kenosha league section refused to support him and went over to Henry Allen Cooper. Now it repudiates Lenrool, Morgan and Henry Johnson and will work for "independent candidates for these offices." It may be said that the action of the Kenosha league is fairly indicative of the attitude of the rest of the league of the state.

In Montana the democratic leaders have to face the nonpartisan league domination of that party. That is one thing about the nonpartisan leagues. They play one party in one state and another in another state as it suits the purpose.
But the democrats in Montana have repudiated the league there and the fight is the same as in Wisconsin, only reversed.

LOOK FOR GYPSY MOTH.

Again a warning is given that the gypsy moth is making havoc among the shade trees of the cities and villages of the state. Wisconsin trees shipped to New Jersey have spread this deadly pest there. Last year we had a regularly organized battle against the moth in many of the cities and villages of the state.

It will be well to take another look. Every owner of a shade tree should give it a careful examination. If there is a little spot about as big as a dollar that looks like a bit of cotton clinging to the bark you will know it is a nest of the deadly moth. It can be pulled off, but must be burned for the moth is most tenacious of life.
Look over the trees in your yard. If there are many of the cotton patches it will be well to spray the trees and be rid of the egg masses.

"What shall we do with the milk?" is a decidedly interesting question in Rock county. Janesville would take a lot of it at around 19 cents a quart.

The League of nations having taken over the Polish-Lithuanian war, the Poles and Lithuanians keep right on fighting.

One thing about the nonpartisan league, it will attach itself to any party without batting an eye.

There are 29 members of the League of Nations and 30 wars going on at the present time.

VII. THE TAYLOR-CASE-VAN BUREN RACE OF 1848.

Washington, D. C. Sept. 28.—Once more the whigs put their faith in a War Hero, and for the second time last time they were victorious. Zachary Taylor was nominated because he was the popular hero of the war with Mexico. It mattered not that he had never cast a vote in his life and had never taken any interest in politics. It mattered not that the war in which he won glory and renown was conducted by the Whigs as a crime against civilization. It mattered not that he was a southern slaveholder when northern Whigs were beginning to battle every day against the extension of slavery. It mattered not that Henry Clay, the leader of the Whigs, again wanted the nomination from his party. Nothing mattered except that the Whigs wanted to win.
That they had won in 1840 with a War Hero and an alliterative slogan, and that they could do it again. Thus to General Harrison and "Tippecanoe and Tyler, too," was added General Taylor and "Old Rough and Ready." These were the only men the Whigs party ever put in the White house, and it is remarkable that they are the only Presidents who have died in office of natural causes.

But even the hearty attractiveness of General Taylor, the freshness of his war-won laurels, the magic of the memory of Buena Vista, none of these things would have availed to defeat the democrats had it not been for the factional party fight in New York state, which ultimately resulted in the nomination of the Free Soil Democratic party and the candidacy of Martin Van Buren for President. Van Buren did not carry a single state, but he got a sufficient number of votes to take more than one state away from the Democratic candidate and give its electoral vote to General Taylor.

The Democratic national convention met that year at Baltimore May 22. The nomination for President was a race between Lewis Cass of Michigan and James Buchanan of Pennsylvania.
Cass was nominated on the fourth ballot without difficulty. But the great fight in the convention was not over the nominations; it was over the status of the two contesting delegations from New York.

There they were, Samuel J. Tilden, later the leader of the national Democracy, as spokesman and advocate for the Barn-burners, and Daniel D.
Sickles, the orator for the Hunkers. "Then only 23 years old, Sickles was already a member of the legislature and leader in the Hunker, or conservative wing of the Democratic party in New York.

The Barn-burners were liberal Democrats, whose name was given to them because of the similarity of their doctrines in politics to the economy of the Dutch farmer who burned his barn to get rid of the rats. Some authorities reflectly suggest that the name was derived from the depredations of certain persons in western New York, not unlike the Kentucky night-riders of more recent fame. The Hunkers were the conservatives, who believed in standing by the party, whatever be it. "Hunker" is said to be "hunger," English or "hunker" which is akin to "hunger," and the name was applied to those of the Democrats whose desire for the possession of office was more remarkable than their "hunger and thirst after righteousness."

Barn-burners and Hunkers came down to Baltimore, each swearing death against the other.
Behind the Barn-burners was the awful shadow of Martin Van Buren, who had been the head of the great Democratic political machine the party had possessed. The party had defeated him for re-nomination four years previously by the imposition of the two-thirds rule, and by permitting delegates to vote for candidates other than himself. Charles Wright, had declined the vice-presidential nomination in 1844, but had saved the day by running for Governor of New York and lining up the Van Buren strength for the Polk ticket.
Two years later, in 1848, Wright had been defeated for re-election as governor, and the blame was laid on the Hunkers. Van Buren and his friends wanted revenge.

The Baltimore convention was unable to decide between these bitter factions, and therefore voted to send both delegations, giving a half-vote to each. Both sides declined to accept the compromise and refused to vote in the convention.
When Lewis Cass had been nominated for President and William O. Butler for Vice President, young Dan Sickles jumped to his feet to promise his vote of New York for the nominees, making an impassioned speech which brought the attention of the whole country to him.

But the Barn-burners went home sore. It was not long until the Free Soil movement was underway. Martin Van Buren became its candidate for President and Charles Francis Adams was nominated for Vice President. The Abolition party was swallowed up in it. It was the first considerable movement toward the wrecking of the old non-sectional parties and hastening the inevitable Civil War. And when the voters were counted, General Taylor was elected and Martin Van Buren had his revenge.

General Taylor was nominated at the Whig national convention in Philadelphia. Governor Morehead of North Carolina was President of the convention and it became his duty to inform the candidates that they had been nominated. It was during the days of the convention that the payment of postage and return of letters addressed to General Taylor's address in Louisiana, postage collect.

"Old Rough and Ready" had been getting too many letters from cranks all over the country, for each of which he was compelled to pay from 10 to 40 cents postage. Therefore he had ordered the postmaster to return all letters addressed to the postmaster and to the dead letter office. Thus Governor Morehead's letter shared this fate. This he had been nominated until the committee sent to formally notify him of his selection had reached his Louisiana home. He was very angry and refused to return to the committee and the committee was surprised to learn he didn't know it before. It is the only instance on record that a formal notification to a candidate for President was genuine news.

The campaign which placed "Old Rough and Ready" in the White House was a political contest in which the winning candidate was not the winner of the popular vote. He merely looked contributed to his own success. He merely looked on while the Democrats went to pieces on the rock of the "Winnet Proviso." The "proviso" was it was familiarly referred to in those days when it was a burning issue, had brought the slavery question into national politics with a vengeance.

The famous proviso was a provision in the bill to appropriate money to close negotiations with Mexico concerning the war and to acquire territory was before the House. A half-dozen anti-slavery Democrats had copies of the proviso, and the first one to get the speaker's attention was to offer it. It gave the opportunity to extend the national controversy in New York next week.—Mrs. J. B. Day, who has been at-

PARENTAL DIFFERENCES.
My Pa will give me anything I ask him for
that he can buy.
Oh, he is just too good to me an' I jus' hope he'll never die.
My Ma thinks that I git too much an' she says no, but Pa will say—
"Aw, let him have it anyhow." Pa's awful funny just that way.
But when I fall an' hurt myself I go to Ma right then, coz she Is always tenderer than Pa, an' knows jus'
what to do for me.

My Pa says: "Aw now be a man! Don't let the neighbors see you cry!"
I know it hurts, but never mind, it will feel better by and by;
I'm sorry, but in life, you know, there is a lot of pain, but I git through it.
An' then jus' take the falls they git an' act as though they didn't care." But Ma jus' holds me in her arms an' lets me snuggle on her knee.
An' seems to know an' understand how much the pain is hurtin' me.

My Ma says Pa won't see my faults or punish me for bein' bad.
She often tells to him at night, "You're much too easy with the lad!"
But jus' the same I git hurt Ma runs to help me if she can.
An' Pa comes out an' says to me, "Now stand an' bear it like a man." I like my Pa, but I like things an' I just hope he'll never die.
But when I'm hurt I like Ma best, coz she don't tell me not to cry.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

WHAT EVERY WOMAN KNOWS!
That a man who knows how to embroider and knit is never going to be a kind of financial fool. That the man who knows how to knit the cook by doing her own cooking.
That the card club prize is going to be something that the hostess won at a previous meeting.

That education is a great thing. Chorus girls ride in limousines while school teachers walk to work.

That a woman's watch is great to tack down
a stair carpet with or to throw at a cat.

That it is no fun to smoke a cigar when nobody is looking.

That the woman who occupied the apartment last had perfectly atrocious taste in wall paper.

That if she stepped to the door and called,
"Here, kitty, kitty," all the women in the neighborhood would have to come a-running if they were perfectly honest about it.

Some of the apartment house superintendents are getting rather particular. It seems to us.
Our superintendent won't allow any of the tenants

PREVENTION OF LUNG FEVER

Skipping lightly over the symptoms of lung fever, which are so common of ours, we reach the problem of prevention, and I must endeavor to restrain myself from harping on the same old thing, the old harp about the absurdity of the catching cold delusion. If this ancient delusion had stood or fall by the results obtained these past few centuries in preventing pneumonia or other respiratory infections by avoiding cold and wet and drafts and changes of temperature, the number of children, going out with gal-loshes on damp days, and all that sort of bootless business, the number of children who die of pneumonia shattered by this time, wouldn't it?
Christian Science is right about it.
Somewhere in Science and Health remember Mrs. Eddy observed that the best people knew about—well, here is the note I made of it long ago:

"A damp atmosphere and freezing snow enwrapped the plump cheeks of our ancestors, but they never indulged in the refinement of inflamed bronchial tubes, they were as hardy as Adam before he ate the fruit of false knowledge of the existence of tubercles and troches, jungs and lo-zenges."

Our ancestors indulged in few refinements, it is true, diagnostic or otherwise. They took whatever they were handed by "the rheum" or "the cold," and went to bed to die or live, as God willed.

The open air schoolroom, in those schools blessed with modern equipment, has already proved a distinct factor in the prevention of all the respiratory infections, such as croup, sore throat, bronchitis and pneumonia, but also tuberculosis, diphtheria, scarlet fever, and the other diseases which are too freely spread among children.

The open air sleeping porch or an equivalent thereof is an important prevention of pneumonia. The terminals certainly prefer nice warm indoor atmosphere in the season when they are mostly engaged in the various occupations of life. In office, church, shop, theater or where-ever people meet or live or work in

ASK US

The Gazette maintains an information bureau at Washington, D. C., under the direction of the editor.
We will answer all questions on any subject. Those desiring information may write a letter to the Janesville Daily Gazette, Information Bureau, Washington, D. C., and enclose a stamp. The letter will be answered by the bureau.

"Q. Can you tell me all the equalities running for president and representatives and the parties they represent?" H. B.

A. The names of the candidates for president and vice president of the different parties are as follows: Republican, Warren G. Harding, Ohio; Calvin Coolidge, Massachusetts; Seneca, Tennessee; Milford Ohio; Franklin Delano Roosevelt, New York; farm-labor ticket, Barley P. Christensen, Utah, Max S.
Hayes, Ohio; single ticket, Robert Pennsylvania; Robert C. Barnum, Ohio; socialist, Eugene V.
Debs, Indiana; Seymour Steinman, Ohio; prohibition, Aaron S. Wal-kins, Ohio; D. Leigh Colvin, New York.

"Q. Who is the oldest ball player now playing in the big leagues?"
E. A. C.

A. As far as we are able to ascertain, "Dode" Paskert, outfielder for the Chicago Cubs, is the oldest player in the big league games.

"Q. Will sulphuric acid, salt and water freeze ice cream without using ice?" J. W. O.

A. The Department of Agriculture says that sulphuric acid, salt, and water could not be used successfully to freeze ice cream, because the acid would burn holes in any kind of freezer.

"Q. Would like to know if the marine corps stands first, second, or third in the United States service."
D. A.

A. There is no rating of the different branches of the service in the United States, as there can be no comparison made between the army, navy, and marine corps. Each branch of the service is entirely separate and has separate rating.

"Q. What part of the latent energy of gasoline does an automobile use?"
B. T. S.

A. Most of the high-grade automobile engines have an efficiency of from 20 to 25 per cent; that is, they develop power equivalent to 20 to 25 per cent of the energy actually contained in gasoline.

"Q. What is the meaning of the word 'Mephistopheles'?" W. A. N.

A. The word is of Greek origin, and means "The spirit who denies."
It is the name of the first supernatural experiment station in the United States founded? R. E. S.

A. The first regularly organized agricultural experimental station in America was established at Wesleyan university, Middletown, Conn., in 1875.

"Q. From what port did the three vessels 'Susan Constant,' 'Goodspeed' and 'Discovery' sail?" J. H. M.

A. These vessels, bringing the first settlers to Jamestown, Va., sailed from London on Dec. 8, 1606.

"Q. How do they lay cables in the ocean?" D. R. M.

A. The usual method is the one used in laying the Trans-Atlantic cables. These were, for the most part, laid by two vessels. They followed the cable in mid-ocean, then steamed in opposite directions, landing the other ends of the cable on the two coasts.

"Q. When did Steve Brodie jump off Brooklyn bridge?" C. J. W.

A. On July 23, 1886, Steve Brodie jumped from the Brooklyn bridge, a drop of 148 feet.

"Q. What should be the weight of a child nine years old?" M. P.

A. A child of nine years old should weigh between 75 and 85 pounds.
A girl of the same age, 45 inches tall, should weigh between 65 and 75 pounds. Much information has been obtained from the school children of the city, giving this and much other valuable information, which will be sent to any reader upon receipt of two cents in stamps for return postage.

"Q. What is a manzanilla?"
R. B. M.

A. This is a Spanish name given to a small olive with a freestone pit, which is a bitterish flavor. They manzanillas are usually pickled and stuffed with Spanish pimientos.

In Grapes.—Federal prohibition agents raided five saloons in the downtown district on the last day of the year. The saloons were found to be filled with wine and whiskey. The agents are alleged to have seized the wine and whiskey. The five men were taken to the police station and held for a hearing. A United States court commissioner here.

COMRADES

—of—
PERILBy RANDALL FAIRBANKS.

He sprang out over the wheel, still reeling from the long ride, yet standing erect nevertheless. He had expected a welcome and this strange lack of interest on the part of the crowd of onlookers chilled his enthusiasm. Once inside, he stopped, staring about in a dazed way. The room was empty of patrons; the tables were unoccupied; no one was lined up in front of the long bar, and no sound of voices or of music came down from the room above. The place seemed like a huge cavern, and for a brief moment he even began to perceive the faint outlines of a red-mustached bartender in front of the mirror, indistinctly rubbing the immaculate glass. He stepped forward, his footstep muffled by the sawdust on the floor. "What the—?" is the matter with this dump?" he muttered. "Oh, so it's you, is it, Moran? Well, are you all that left in Ponca?"

The red-mustached man turned and looked at him. "You're the old D. C. C. What's up? Ponca gone on the bum?"

"That's about the size of it, Tom," he admitted gravely. "Where've you been the last six months?"

"Over in the Cottonwood ranching. Say, I don't see you here. That looks like a strike in this valley. What's up? Ponca gone on the bum?"

"No, she's all right mostly. Be all right tomorrow, I reckon, for litch-ick's out of the valley with a bunch of steers. What'll you drink?"

"Best you got, of course. That looks like a lot like old times, an' tastes like it. Take a snort with me, Moran. Where's Mac, an' all the boys, anyhow?"

"Out ter the funeral; that's what's the matter with this town. The whole kit an' caboodle gone across the creek to tip over. You remember Old Dad?"

"No, can't say I do; what was he, a zambler?"

"Kind of a tin-horn; sussed most of the time. Still everybody liked him; pretended he was a blacksmith when he first come, an' put up a shack down the creek. He was a good worker, an' a free hand. Just naturally bummed 'round, but he was a good story-teller. The boys of a good story-teller, you must have known him."

Shelby shook his head. "What did he die from?"

"Shot himself, I reckon. He was picked up back of the dance hall, with a bullet in his gut an' a gun in his hand. The gas didn't come home, an' so Dan he went along with her. The two of 'em found him out there."

"What girl?"

"Daughter, I s'pose. She's been here kinder keepin' house ever since I first knew the cuss."

"How old is she?"

"I ain't no judge of females' ages, if yer ask me, but maybe sixteen or seventeen. Quite a wisp of a girl, an' a good one. Sorter sullen-like, an' first stays ter home all the time."

"Where'd you say all this rumput was going on?"

"Over across the creek, beyond that bunch of willows. You know where the graveyard is. Goin' ter be some obsequies, s'pose. P. M. C. went down to Buffalo Gap for ter get a preacher ter do the thing up swell. What's the matter with yer gas, Tom? You ain't got no show in it. Dan'll be mighty pleased ter see yer have in."

Shelby helped himself to another drink and gave up disconsolately about the big, deserted room. "I reckon I'll turn the bones into Davis' corral, an' then amble along the creek. I s'pose I'll be a better bet than this dump today."

He had waded the shallow waters and reached the edge of the willows before his eyes distinguished the crowd gathered in the open space beyond. It was surely some funeral; there was no doubt about that. A mass of men and women, headed in the sunshine, and beyond them, on a little knoll, a small bunch of women were crowded together, girls from the dance hall mostly, judging from their clothes and faces, although one or two older women were at the time. Shelby stepped right to the front of the ex-preacher, elevated on a box, and his ears caught the sonorous words of exhortation with which he exhorted the congregation. Shelby checked instantly by McCarthy, who politely requested the funeral to stop making a fool of themselves, and immediately McCarthy announced that the Ponca music quartette would sing "Onward, Christian Soldiers," after which those who desired would be given the opportunity to view for the last time the features of the departed. As the last dulcet strains of the hymn rolled away, McCarthy, as though anxious to improve the lives of the singers by quick action, pushed his way once again to the front.

"You boys," he roared out tersely, "line up along them willows. I'll go first with the daughter as chief mourner, an' then the females will follow in line. You can't get any of you can money along. We're goin' ter do this up in some style, an' it ain't just goin' to be showin' proper respect for the dead, but we're goin' to remember the orphaned and the fatherless. That's the way Ponca does business. Now, chip in, gents. There's a box there at the end of the line, an' after yer've had a squint at Ol' Dad cough up something for the fund."

Shelby dropped into place behind the steady agent who recognized the newcomer with a hard handgrip and grin of welcome.

Samson Nine to Play 5 Games in Six Days; Off to Racine on Wednesday

This week will be the heaviest of the entire season for the Samson Tractor baseball team, a total of five games being listed in six days. Friday will be the team's only day of rest.

This afternoon they are battling the St. Louis club of the National league out at the fair grounds; tomorrow afternoon they will journey to Racine to play a return game with the Case nine as a feature of a general holiday for the Case plant. Thursday is the date set for the clash with the Simmons Beds at Evansville; while Saturday and Sunday they will cross sticks here with the Waterville club of the Central State league.

Lathrop Pitches Today.
The St. Louis club arrived from Chicago at 11:20 a. m. today, finishing with their 10-1 victory over the Cubs on Monday, which they collected 25 hits for 25 bases. It was the last league game of the season for the Samson nine. Lathrop was picked by manager Perring to pitch on the mound for the Tractors today. He will probably pitch at Evansville again Thursday.

The game at Racine Wednesday was definitely announced by manager Perring today. It was talked up when the Case nine played here Saturday and Sunday. Wooten may be used as pitcher today.

Gregory on Saturday.
Gregory is going to pitch up at La Crosse Thursday, so the Tractors will not start their return game until next Sunday, as it is planned to let Gregory show his speed in the box on Saturday.

A big celebration from here will attend the Samson-Simmons game at Evansville Thursday, hoping to see the home club get revenge for four defeats at the Beds' hands.

ALL-STARS TO HAVE FOOTBALL ELEVEN

With baseball season drawing to a close, the All-Stars are to keep active in sporting circles so they have decided to organize a football team. They have already scheduled their first game with a Madison eleven.

With such men as Sullivan, Rautacher, Hager and Dick as a nucleus it is believed that the team will win a winter combination. Sullivan, captain and end of the I. F. S. eleven in 1919, will be on one end with Haer, and on the other, Rautacher, team player opposite. Rautacher will be out for fullback, Grasslin, Curtis and Puelmann for halfbacks. Dick will probably land the quarterback position.

Although they intend to make a success of football, the Stars are looking forward mainly toward basketball. For this sport they have such men lined up as Hager, Rautacher, Grasslin, Puelmann, Dick, Curtis, Schilling, Cullen, Zahn and Hubert. Hager's statement that he intends to play with the Stars means that he will probably not wear a high school uniform.

The Stars wish to play a couple of the high school's open dates. They have answered Fond du Lac for games.

WHITE SOX ARE IDLE TODAY
Chicago, Sept. 28.—The White Sox were idle today while the Cleveland club was scheduled to play a third game at St. Louis. The Sox open a three game series at St. Louis Friday. Cleveland has 6 more games to play this season, while the Sox have 10 left. The Sox lead the league with 67 wins and 44 losses, while Cleveland has 57 wins and 44 losses.

The White Sox in order to win the league championship will have to win all the rest of their games, while Cleveland loses two.

QUIMET, VARDON AND RAY IN MATCH
Brookline, Sept. 28.—The Hawks of the country club over which the youthful Francis Quimet defeated the British golf masters, Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, seven years ago in the play off of a triple tie for the national open golf championship, was the scene of a re-meeting of all three today.

The occasion was the opening of a 72 hole, best ball tournament, in which the Englishmen were opposed by Quimet and Jesse P. Gliford.

It was their second meeting of the season, the professionals Vardon and Ray, having defeated their amateur opponents, 4 to 2, at Belmont Springs Country club early in the summer.

SOUVENIRS
She lays her hat and shoes away. She dons her slippers with a sigh. He left her, weeping yesterday. The tears today are scarcely dry.

She's in her low-collared room again. She dons her slippers with a sigh. The bitter looks from all the men. Hurt less than that which sent her home.

Gone are the hours of strange delight. With rough but kindly foreigners. With one who laughed into the night. Who made his "princely" fortune hers.

She dreamed of him, so strong and tall. Leading her to his native land. He hadn't meant it, she said, all?—He hadn't meant it, she said, all?

Perhaps she didn't understand. And now an age has passed, it seems. She sits beside her cot, and door. And in her heart, her dreams. Her little tragedy of war.

Now all we want, says ex-Sgt. SOL, is to have Paris made safe for Americans.

ON TREES
We might have begun this essay on trees by listing the various things that we found there but that would take us too far afield. The tree is much more than a mere structure of wood and bark. It is a living organism, a complex of life and energy.

As a matter of fact, trees divide themselves into a few simple classifications. There are the "deciduous" trees, which lose their leaves in winter, and the "evergreen" trees, which keep their leaves all year long.

The "deciduous" trees are the most common of the two. They are the trees that we see in the parks and on the streets of our cities. They are the trees that give us the shade and the beauty of our landscape.

The "evergreen" trees are the trees that we see in the mountains and in the forests. They are the trees that give us the beauty and the majesty of the wilderness.

There are many other things that we can learn about trees. We can learn about their uses, about their history, and about their future. We can learn that trees are not just a part of our environment, but that they are a part of our lives.

So, let us take a moment to appreciate the trees that surround us. Let us take a moment to thank them for the shade and the beauty that they give us. Let us take a moment to promise them that we will take care of them for the future.

For the trees are not just a part of our environment, but that they are a part of our lives. And we must take care of them if we are to have a future.
